Event Scope

We cordially invite you to participate in our next workshop, which aims to provide new opportunities to study the state of knowledge in the field of science.

Description

Join us for an interactive workshop designed for students interested in exploring the power of science mapping using VOSviewer. This hands-on session will introduce to the fundamentals of creating and interpreting visual representations of scientific literature. Participants will learn how to import data, analyze co-authorship and citation networks, and generate insightful visualizations that reveal trends and relationships in economic field. By the end of the workshop, participants will have the skills to utilize VOSviewer for economic research projects, enhancing their ability to communicate complex information effectively.

No prior experience required—just a curiosity for economic science and data visualization!!

Participants

Participants (Students, Master Students, PhD students and Post-doctoral researchers) within the project “Economics and Policy Options for Climate Change Risk and Global Environmental Governance (ACRONYM: EPOC)” target group will benefit from this event. Other participants are also expected.

The workshop allows a maximum number of 30 participants. All workshop participants must register for the event in due time.

Event Highlights

- Overview of science mapping concepts and methodologies
- Installation and setup of VOSviewer and avigating the user interface
- Data acquisition and preparation of sources of bibliometric data (e.g., Scopus, Web of Science)
- Understanding co-authorship relationships
- Visualizing citation patterns among publications
- Best practices for presenting findings in academic contexts
